Is called the "Father of Diseases." It is caused by a Torpid Liver, and is generally accompanied with

LOSS OF APPETITE,

SICK HEADACHE,

BAD BREATH, Etc.

To treat constipation successfully

It is a mild laxative and a tonic to the digestive organs. By taking Simmons' Liver Regulator you promote digestion, bring on a regular habit of body and prevent Biliousness and Indigestion.

"My wife was sorely distressed with Constipation and coughing, followed with Bleeding Piles.
After four months' use of Simmons' Liver Regulator she is almost entirely relieved, gaining strength and flesh."—W. H. LEVY, Delaware, Ohio.

HER FRIEND.

"Twice in the Boston fast express a little maiden sat;
She occupied those seats alone; beside her lay her hat.
She clutched her dolly to her breast in childish mother play.

As if she feared some dreadful giant would snatch it right away.

"Are you alone, my little girl?" I asked as I stepped down.

"My mamma told me Dad was here!" she said with half a frown.

"She told me an my dolly, and I said I don't know you."

"But, dear," I answered, smiling, "tell me where you're going to."

She twisted in her seat, and then she tossed "I'm doing on to Boston, an my pop'll meet me there."

"But, dear," I questioned gently, "if the choo choo cars should stop.

"And you should walk, and walk, and walk, and then not find your pop."

"What would you do?" The little maiden shook her head and frowned.

"My mamma says when pop is gone, that Dad is some where round."

The train rolled into Boston town. I waited there awhile
And watched my little blue eyes, with her half expectant smile.

"Dess waitin for my pop," she said, "with dolly and book."

And then a man came rushing in, I knew him by his leap.

He snatched his little daughter up with frantic and backslung hair.

And then, with father's instinct, quick his eye was turned on me.

"Well, Bess," he asked, "who is your friend?"
With quaint, expressive nod

The maid replied, "I dess I know. I flink it muss be Dad."

America's Paper Making Capacity.

The United States has a capacity for producing about 13,250,000 pounds of paper annually, not counting the idle mills, of which at present about seventy are reported, out of a total of 1,180. Of this enormous product some 3,735,000 pounds are used in printing newspapers and books, and 212,900 pounds more go to help bind the books printed. It is estimated that 498,000 pounds are consumed by the building trades; 3,176,000 pounds of wrapping paper are used and 590,000 pounds of writing papers. An important item is the production of nearly 1,600,000 pounds of press, straw and wood pulp "boards." The production of "artificial leather," fortunately for the purchasers of shoes, has been decreasing since 1884, when 129,000 pounds of this material were produced. The most rigid economy is practiced in paper making; hence the high degree of mechanical skill and executive ability connected with this industry as compared with the cost of the product.—

Change of Fifty Years.

The tardy justice done to women in the passing of the women's property act in England and America was the direct outgrowth of the wages system. The fact that woman had no right in her earnings, inherited property, or even in her personal belongings, until recent years, took away all stimulus to active money making effort. Driven to it by the failure of husband or father to provide for her wants, she could not hold any possession from the grasp of the selfish, cruel, tyrannical or degraded male relative who possessed legal power over her. The change in these selfish conditions has all occurred within the past fifty years, and it is marvelous.— sources."

Catcher Flint's Wonderful Hands.

Charles Seymour, the newspaper man, used to tell a story about Catcher Flint.
When the Chicago Ball club called on the president in Washington each member of course shook hands with the executive. When the president's hand was released by "Old Silver" the president was seen to quickly thrust it into the pocket of his coat. Then he felt about in his pocket a bit, took his hand out and looked at it with some surprise, remarking, "Oh, I beg pardon; I thought you had given me a handful of walnuts."—Chicago Post.

Three Small Trees.

Keampfer is quoted as describing a trio of trees he saw in a box 1 1/4 inches broad, 4 inches long and 8 inches deep for which the owner asked the traveler the modest sum of $300. The three denizens of the box were a bamboo, a monthly blooming plum tree and a blue leaved pine, all perfectly formed and seemingly enjoying their dwarfed existence.—St.
Louis Republic.

Horse Sense.

As regards color, gray horses live longest, roan horses nearly as long. Cream colored horses are deficient of staying Bays, on an average, are the best. Horses with black hoofs are stronger and tougher than others.—Rider and Driver.

THE MILLION DOLLAR MANTLE.

A Priceless Gem That Has Enveloped in Feathers of Hawaiian Kings.

A valuable collection of Hawaiian feather war cloaks and capes is on exhibition at the National museum. One of the cloaks, the largest in the collection, is of immense value. It is known as the "million dollar mantle." It once enveloped the kingly form of Keolukalan, one of the highest chiefs of the Sandwich islands, in whose reign it was completed nearly a hundred years after it was begun. Upon the death of Keolu-kalan, who fell in battle, it became the property of his enemy, King Kamehameha III, by whom it was presented to Captain J. H. Aulick, of the United States navy.

The foundation of this most remarkable cloak is a network of olona or "native hemp," and to it are attached by threads of the same material feathers of native birds found only in the Hawaiian islands. The entire body of the mantle is made up of small red and yellow feathers, the latter ones being obtained from the Oo or Uho (Moo nobilis), a bird extremely rare and possessing but one or two of these yellow feathers which are found under the wings. This bird is captured alive by means of the "lime trap," and when deprived of the precious feathers is set at liberty. Great prize is put on these feathers by the crown. They are used as money in buying and selling, and are accepted by the government in payment of taxes. The red feathers are obtained from the most abundant bird of the islands, the Dreponis coccyzus.

In the "million dollar mantle" the feathers are placed so as to overlap, thus giving a smooth surface to the exterior of the cloak. The upper and lateral borders of the mantle are decorated with alternate tufts of red, yellow and black feathers, but only on the margin are the black feathers used, which are obtained from the Uho. In the center of the mantle is a large crescent shaped figure of yellow feathers, surrounded by a belt of red, which blends in the middle of the belt on either side with a succeeding stripe of red, the outer margins of which are divided by two wedge shaped processes of yellow.

From this last named figure on either side to the circumferences are alternate parallel stripes of yellow and red about six inches broad. The upper circumference of the cloak, where it fastens about the neck, is about twenty inches; the lower one being seven or seven and a half feet, thus forming a cloak capable of amply enveloping a very large person. The mantle is protected by a handsome case and its beauty advantageously displayed by a background of blue velvet.

There are two other capes in the collection, very much smaller, and two hats. The larger of the capes is little more than a collar, its upper and lower circumferences being but seventeen and sixty-six inches, respectively. The entire body is of yellow feathers, having but two small crescents of red in the center.
The remaining cape, virtually a red one, has only two small designs of yellow feathers and consequently is much less valuable.

The boss made from the feathers of the Uho are about two feet in length, and fasten about the neck with hempen cords.

The feather garments were at one time considered the greatest possessions of the crown, but the costumes of European and American manufacture have superseded them, and they are no longer manufactured on the islands.—Washington Post.

Letter Writing in America.

Americans are the greatest letter writing people on the globe. Of the fifty odd billion pieces of mail which are posted in the world every year nearly 3,000,000,000 go through the postoffices of the United States. We spend every year more than $32,000,000 for postage, and during the year 1891 American tongues licked the backs of $37,000,000 worth of sticky stamps.

The postage stamps sold every year the world over far surpasses in value the riches of Jay Gould or the Rothschilds, and the postage stamp industry of the world is one of the greatest factors in the machinery which moves the universe today. And yet postage stamps are of comparatively recent origin. It is barely fifty years ago since they were first used in England, and in 1817 congress first authorized their use in the United States.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Biggest Umbrella in the World.

It is said that the biggest umbrella in the world has been made for the use of a west African king. The umbrella, which can be closed in the usual manner, is twenty-one feet in diameter and is affixed to a polished mahogany staff of the same length. The canopy is made of India straw, and has a score of straw tassels and a border of crimson satin.
On the top is a pine shaped straw ornament which terminates in a gilded cone.
When in use the umbrella is fixed in the ground, and under its shelter the king is able to entertain thirty guests at dinner.

The Phoenix of Arabia.

In olden times a bird called a "phoenix" was thought to live in the deserts of Arabia. His lease of life was said to be 500 years, at the end of which time he built a nest of spices and fanned it into a flame with his wings. The flame reduced the bird to ashes, out of which he sprang to live another 500 years.
Richardson says that he had fifty orifices in his beak, through which he sung melancholy airs.—St. Louis Republic.

An Abbe's Retort.

Some of those terrible market women of Paris were "cheeking" the Abbe Maury good humoredly. "You speak like an angel, M. l'Abbe, but spite of it it all you are a fool." "Quite right, mesdames," he replied, "but one does not die for that!"—Gentleman's Magazine.

Hon. C. Allen of Churchill is in town. He reports everything flourishing about the Sink of Carson. There are about 1,500 head of beavers in the county, nearly all of which will be disposed of in a few weeks.

A. G. Phillips, Dr. Phillips' father, arrived here yesterday from the East, with a view of locating permanently in Reno. Mrs. Phillips, who spent some time in Reno last Summer with her son, will soon join her husband here.

A Deputy United States Marshal named Whetstone shot and fatally wounded another Deputy United States Marshal named McEllen in Ogden on Sunday. The tragedy was the result of a quarrel concerning accusations made against Ogden Hiles, a prominent lawyer, who resided in Virginia City several years ago, and who is well known in Western Nevada. McEllen took exception to Whetstone's remarks about Hiles and the shooting followed.

A tomahawk, six inches in length, was found in the center of a saw log thirty-two inches in diameter at Morse, Michigan. The solid timber over the head of the tomahawk was ten inches in thickness. It is estimated that it had been in the tree 200 years.

Sheepmen are at a loss to know why wool is cheaper than it was before the passage of the McKinley bill. There is not near enough wool produced in the United States for home consumption, yet wool is two or three cents per pound lower than it was two years ago. It looks as if there were more Cashiers in the custom houses.

At Oreana, Owyhee county, Idaho, Deputy Constable Fleming shot and instantly killed Samuel J. Pritchard, a Deputy United States Marshal and a prominent Republican. Fleming had a warrant for Pritchard's arrest on a simple assault charge, and because the latter would not "hold up his hands" at the command of Fleming, he was shot.

Ex-Governor Bell received a letter yesterday from General Powling informing him that Mrs. Powling is improving rapidly, and they probably will leave Philadelphia for Nevada next Saturday or Sunday. General Powling, while in Washington, had an interview with the Secretary of War, and received assurances that a military post would be established at Reno.

B. J. Tibbatts bruised his little finger and wrapped a cloth around it. He put five or six drops of carbolic acid on the cloth. The acid penetrated to the finger and consumed the bruised flesh on the first joint so that Drs. Lewis and Phillips, whom he consulted, concluded to amputate the first joint of the finger. Mr. Tibbatts says he experienced no pain while the acid was eating the flesh to the bone.

Payette Welch, an actor, was shot and instantly killed in Boston on Sunday morning by a variety performer, professionally known as William Gould. Welch was well known in Nevada by old timers, and was a great favorite in Virginia City, where he often appeared as an endman in minstrel troupes. When drunk Welch was a dangerous man, and in his long career has figured in numerous quarrels and fights.

The White Pine News says: Sheriff Payne returned from California last Saturday evening with W. D. Campbell, who is under indictment here for grand larceny (cattle stealing). Tuesday Mr. Campbell gave bonds in the sum of $3,000 for his appearance at the next term of Court and was discharged from custody. He returned to California, where he has leased and is working a ranch near Martinez. There was considerable sensational stuff made out of the arrest by the San Francisco papers.

THE C. P. R. R. TAX SUITS.

Correcting a Wrong Impression. On the arrival of J. L. Wines, the attorney for the C. P. R. R. tax cases, recently decided in favor of the county and State, in Austin, last Thursday afternoon, he at once filed a bond, on appeal, in each of the cases, 1888, 1889, and 1890, with County Clerk Miller, in the total sum of $34,000, with County Commissioner Leopold Steiner and Mr. Robert Samuel Crescenzo, as sureties.

From the above it will be seen that the C. P. R. R. proposes, by the assistance of our County Commissioner and Merchant, to take these cases to the Nevada Supreme Court, for its action. Editor Journal:—The above from the "People's Advocate" shows how naturally some newspapers can be unfair, and how easily they can convey a wrong impression. It is true the tax cases, in one sense, were decided against the Company, but so dissatisfied were the Attorneys for the County, including Mr. Mayenbaum, that they gave notice of an application for a new trial in each of the cases, before the company took any steps at all in the way of an appeal. The decision of the Court gave the County about $10,000 less in taxes than had been insisted upon at the trial.

Questions of importance were decided in favor of both parties to the actions.

TREE PLANTING.

What Foster the Meteorologist Says:—Tree planting time being at hand, and forests being so intimately connected with rains and moisture, Foster, the meteorologist, has this to say on the subject, in discussing droughts and their cause:

"Five hundred years ago, Spain was a desert. Streams, springs and wells were dried up, and the crops generally failed. The meteorologists of that day investigated the matter, and declared that the destruction of the forests was the cause. Forestry laws were enacted, millions of trees planted, and it was made a crime to cut or destroy trees, although they were private property, without a Government permit. Thus the forests were largely increased, and the fertility of Spain's farming lands restored.

"When Moses made war against the inhabitants of Asia Minor, the forests were dense, the rainfall great, and the land flowed with milk and honey. The Israelites destroyed the timber, the country became a desert, and the Jewish nation was broken up and driven out. In modern times, the growth of trees has been encouraged, the forests protected, the fertility of the soil is returning, and the population increasing."

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only remedy known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Government Tests

The Royal Baking Powder Declared Superior to all others.

The fact that Royal Baking Powder is, in all respects, the best baking powder offered to the public has been established beyond question.

Prof. H. A. Mott, when employed by the U. S. Government to analyze the various baking powders of the market to determine which was the best and most economical, after an extended investigation reported in favor of the Royal, and it was adopted for government use.

Prof. Mott has continued his examinations of baking powders sold at the present day, and affirms it as his deliberate judgment, arrived at after most thorough research and a careful examination of the principal brands of the market, that the Royal is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public. Prof. Mott, in his report, says:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have found it in many tests made both for that company and U. S. Government.

"I will go still further and state that, because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper operations of the same, and the method of its preparation, Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

FOR THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

Whitelaw Reid, Minister to France. The chief interest attaching to the name of Whitelaw Reid just now, is his intention to resign his appointment as Minister to France, that he might be home during the Presidential campaign, and in the probability that his name will appear on the Republican ticket as candidate for the Vice-Presidency. Mr. Morton, it is stated, will not be a candidate again under any circumstances, and the prophecy is that the ticket will be, "Harrison and Reid." Reid was torn at Xenia, Ohio, in 1837. He is a graduate of Miami University. His articles as Washington correspondent of a Cincinnati newspaper attracted attention when he was a very young man, and during the war he earned widespread reputation by his description of various battles. In 1865 he went to New York to join the staff of the Tribune. On the death of Horace Greeley he succeeded him as editor and proprietor of that journal. Mr. Reid married the daughter of D. O. Mills, a millionaire, and is himself numbered with the millionaires. The few books from his pen are of a semi-journalistic character.

Shut Down.

That's what they call it when the mill closes and the work stops. The same term is applied to the liver when you suffer with Biliousness and Sick Headache. There is no action. A few doses of Simmons' Liver Regulator will soon set the liver going properly, and keep the bowels regular. Take the Regulator now and then to prevent any re-occurrences of these distressing symptoms.
